Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.The House passed a bill (H.R. 3146) on September 24 to extend TAIF, mandatory child care, abstinence education, and transitional Medicaid, on current terms, through March 31, 2004. In the absence of legislation these programs would expire on September 30. The Senate Finance Committee approved a comprehensive TAIF preauthorization proposal of Chairman Chuck Grassley on September 10. Entitled Personal Responsibility and Individual Development for Everyone (PRIDE), the legislation would extend TANF, mandatory child care, abstinence education, and transitional Medicaid for 5 years, FY2004 through FY2008. It would raise TANF work participation standards, increase weekly work hours, add new countable work activities, allow partial credit for work hours below the standard and extra credit for hours above the standard, and appropriate new funds for marriage promotion and fatherhood programs. The Committee approved the measure as a substitute for H.R. 4, passed by the House in February. (See House-Passed H.R. 4 Compared with Senate Committee Proposal.) H.R. 4 is almost identical to the bill passed by the House last year (H.R. 4737). H.R. 4 raises the work week for TANF...
