It will be the aim of the present article to continue the development of the same method through the second year of the course; by hint and illustration, indeed, rather than in minute detail, as necessitated by the limits of a magazine article, but still in such manner as may enable the interested reader to supply omitted steps, and to construct for his own use, if so inclined, a similar pathway. The same general principles already indicated as fundamental to an ideal course of deaf-mute instruction will of course continue to shape the method of the second and succeeding years, as of the first already outlined. Not to review too minutely the ground already gone over, these principles are: A prime regard to the necessities of the poorer half of the class, resulting in a course so simplified and systematized in all its essential features as...
